

Alain Locke To Lecture In Haiti

WASHINGTON—Professor Alain Locke will be on leave of absence for the spring quarter from his post at Howard University, to serve as an Inter-American exchange professor in Haiti.

Under the joint auspices of the Committee on Inter-American Artistic and Intellectual Relations and the Haitian Ministry of Education, he will give a series of public lectures on the contribution of the Negro to the culture of the Americas, as well as conduct seminars in Port-au-Prince under the faculty of ethnology and social science, of which Dr. Price Mars is dean.

Dr. Locke will be in Haiti until the end of June, and will return by way of Cuba, where he expects also to engage briefly in promoting a similar project in Inter-American cultural relations.

The invitation, extended originally last year, was deferred because of Dr. Locke's editorial commitments on the special color issue of the Survey Graphic.
