The Artists' Guild met on Washington's birthday at the studios of Miss Wilda G. Gunn, hostess.

Mr. Haines, of the U. N. I. A., right hand man to Marcus Garvey was here for a weekend reorganizing local U.N.I.A. He delivered a most interesting speech on Sunday at the hall at Eighth and Central avenues. Mr. Haines says that Garvey will return to the U. S. in the near future. Most interesting was the statement that "John Bull" deemed it wise to call Garvey to Parliament.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Howard entertained six tables at bridge at their home on Beresford Monday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Francis Givens, Messrs. Ed. Birch, Harry Parsons, and Lutz Davenport. Marion M. Hubbard and Messrs. M. C. Clarke, Edwin J. Quinn, were guest speakers. Dr. Wheat of the U. N. I. A. was introduced. Dan Curran, ninth ward democratic captain, was present also.

Tuesday night Dr. L. L. Hubbard was host to the Ohio Valley Dental Association. The Lewis D. Chapter of the Royal Arch Masons met on the third Wednesday at the Masonic Temple on Lincoln Ave., in Walnut Hills.

Miss Mary Belle Wright was pleasantly surprised on her birthday Wednesday when her sister, Miss Jacque Wright gave a lovely dinner honoring her birthday. Miss Wright was the recipient of many lovely gifts from her many friends.

The waiters' annual ball at the Cotton Club on Thursday night was a splendid success and the liveliest social event of the week. Peter J. McCarthy, clerk of court, made reservations for twenty. Mr. McCarthy for years was a personal friend of Col. Wharton. His son, Peter J. McCarthy, Jr., and their personal friends shared in the evening's revelry.

M. C. Clarke drove to Columbus, O., on Thursday.

On Friday afternoon Miss Ethel Waters was honored guest at the tea which the Optimist club gave at the club house on Stanton Avenue in compliment to Miss Waters who is here for an engagement at Shuberts. Mrs. Ruth Johnson Crittendon was chairman of the courtesy committee. The lovely tea table was graced by Mesdames Thompkins and Eva Bowles who poured. Mr. Joseph Jones, "Southwind," W. L. W. artist, rendered "The Forgotten Man," and the charming guest of honor favored her admirers with "Stormy Weather." Miss Marie Thomas, popular school miss, accompanied her.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bullock of Owasco street in Madisonville motored to Lexington, Ky., in the storm to send a most enjoyable weekend.

The Progressive Political Practitioners presented a most interesting program on Saturday night to a highly intelligent audience of approximately five hundred persons. Interest in the message of the guest speaker, Bishop Reverdy C. Ransom, together with the unique invitation is credited to a large measure the ruling factor for the large number of persons present on such a rainy night when numerous other events demanded groups of individuals' presences. On the program were opening choruses directed by Prof. C. E. N. Holseum, invocation, Rev. J. Franklin Walker; greetings, Dan Durran; remarks, Prof. C. E. N. Holseum; solo, Helen Walker Kling, accompanied by Dr. Watson Fowler; greetings from Progressive Political Practitioners by Marion M. Hubbard; introduction of candidates by M. C. Clarke, master of ceremonies; introduction of Bishop Reverdy C. Ransom by Rev. C. Baker Pearle, Councilman Jas. Wilson introduced late candidates; remarks by Attorney Edwin G. Becker by demand of audience. The members of the Progressive Political Practitioners who sponsored this program and the reception which follow at the Women Federated Club on Chapel Street are as follows: Wm. H. Howard, chairman; Marion M. Hubbard, executive chairman; Marion M. Hubbard, executive secretary of the Peter J. McCarthy campaign throughout Hamilton county, C. C. Jackson, Alfred H. Hall, Will Slade, L. A. Bush and Edwin G. Quilar. The organization was suggested by Marion M. Hubbard for the furtherance of the Race's interests politically.

Miss Ange Smith, Mrs. Daisy Slade, Mrs. Elsie V. Hackney spent Saturday at Delaware, Ohio.

Sunday Bishop Reverdy C. Ransom was guest speaker at Allen's Temple A. M. E. Church.

The monthly broadcast of the N.A.A.C.P. was heard Sunday morning over W K R C.

After he had had dinner as guest in home of Rev. Sumpter, Bishop Ransom was accompanied to Wilberforce by C. C. Jackson Sunday afternoon.

The Cincinnati Branch of the N.A.A.C.P. held its branch meeting at Allen's A.M.E. Temple Church Sunday afternoon. After a report by Atty. Theo. M. Berry, chairman, which gave a general report of the activities during the summer, Rev. C. Baker Pearle gave the address.

Boy Scouts

Due to many requests received by Boy Scout officials to Troop 315, Scoutmaster Leon Phillips stated today that the Boy Scout Troop review would be repeated at the Mt. Zion M. E. Church on Walter and Altona Streets, November 23, at 8 p.m. More than fifty Scouts will participate in the affair. The feature of the review will be a play written by William W. Collins, assistant Scoutmaster.

A huge swiveling bridge built by the Scouts without use of nails will be erected.

Scouts Thomas Blaney, George Turner and Charles Grayson, formerly heard on the Boy Scout radio programs will present the musical portion of the program, and an Indian ceremonial dance will be given by the Indian tribe under Scout Mack Crawford.

The officials urge those interested in seeing this affair to make reservations by calling Avon 7463.

West End Y.W.C.A.

The West End Branch of the Y.W.C.A. presented a World Fellowship Vesper program November 11. Mrs. Theodore Walker was leader and the Reverend C. Baker Pearle of Brown's Chapel delivered the address. An All-Association World Fellowship Dinner Friday, November 16, at Central Branch will bring World Fellowship week to a close. At this time each branch will offer its annual pledge. Charles P. Taft II is to be the speaker on this occasion, his subject being: "The United States and the Far East."
