What A Busy Juliette Buford!

You might want to call Mrs. Juliette Buford one heck of a busy woman after reading of her busy schedule. After her many conference attendances representing the Sears YMCA in May, Mrs. B. returned home in Chicago just long enough to be present at the meeting of the Sears Y board of directors, of which she is a member.

While here she also attended the Recognition Dinner given for staff and board members for their "beyond the call of duty" services during the emergency and crisis after the April riot following the tragic assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. when the Y served as the main center for distribution of food, clothing and household wares.

Now Mrs. Buford is off to attend the Conference on Education and Human Rights in Atlanta, next to Cleveland for a similar conference; then to Miami for the Conference on Prejudice and Human Rights. These are in connection with her position as director of the North American Bahai Office of Human Rights.

She'll return to our town on or about June 24 in time to attend the Regional Conference and Banquet of her sorority, Sigma Gamma Rho. Mrs. B. will then be more than ready, we'll wager, for a lull in activities by relaxing at her summer resort retreat in Paw Paw, Mich.

VISITING GUESTS . . . Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Casselberry (Emma) of S. Normal ave. had as house guests last week his daughter, Kathryn; her husband, Major Elmer T. Brooks; and their four children — Karen, 13; Victor, 12; Eric, 10; and Mark, 8.

Maj. Brooks has been with NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) in Houston, Texas, and the family is taking a vacation while visiting Mrs. Brooks' relatives in Chicago, Lake Forest, Evanston and Dayton. They then will visit the major's kin in Washington, D.C. and Pennsylvania. This vacation is during the interim of his transfer to San Antonio, Texas.

The three older children are talented musicians, having won prizes at Texas Southern University, and Mark takes great pleasure in reading biographies of Abraham Lincoln and other famous people.

INSTALLATION TIME . . . Two women will be installed as officers in the predominantly male organization, Chicago chapter of the National Association of Market Developers, when the group holds a dinner meeting Wednesday evening at the Del Prado Hotel in Hyde Park.

The duo includes Ruth West of Ruth West Interiors, secretary, and Jacqueline Moore of J. Walter Thompson Company, treasurer. Dimpled William "Bill" Manney, sales manager of radio station WBEE is president of the Chicago organization. Guest speaker at the installation dinner will be W. Leonard Evans Jr., publisher of Tuesday Magazine, who will also install the newly elected officers.

NAMD is a professional organization composed of specialists in sales, advertising, marketing and public relations directed primarily toward developing the Negro market; raising the standards of ethics and performance.
