

Side social center. After a brief history of the organization by Miss Addams, Prof. Mordecai Johnson was asked to review the conditions of the New South. Mr. Johnson is a new type of his generation, bringing to his race many opportunities which less hopeful people would miss. Miss Mary Jackson voiced the sentiment of the student body when she expressed the sincere thanks to Miss Addams for her hospitality and to Mrs. C. P. Woolley, who was guest of honor, for the work at the center.

Tuesday evening, Aug. 12, at 8 p. m., the Mothers' Culture Club will meet. Miss Vanderburg, teacher in St. Louis schools, will speak on, "The Relation of Mothers to Teachers." A general discussion will follow. Mrs. Irene Goings, president, extends a cordial invitation to all. Refreshments will be served.

A business organization, the Young Men's Royal Protective Association, meets at the center the second and fourth Thursday evenings at 8 p. m. Mr. James W. Marshall, president; Mr. W. B. Johnson, secretary. Visitors welcome.

Miss Mary Jackson, summer resident at the center and university student, was called to her home by the severe illness of her brother. She is much missed by a host of friends.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS CENTER.

3032 Wabash Ave.

Sunday afternoon, Aug. 10, at 4 p. m., Miss A. H. Hunter, a worker at the World in Chicago, will give an address on the Mormon question. Several musical numbers will follow. Miss Strayhorn, teacher of piano, is giving valuable services as assistant to Mrs. G. L. Cone in the Sunday meetings.

Friday evening, Aug. 15, will be the next university students' meeting. Last Saturday morning the students were invited by Miss Jane Addams to visit Hull House. More than 50 responded, being most delighted to become acquainted with the great West