

Headliners

Those who oughta know say that Air Force Col. B. O. Davis is so demanding when he dines at the Navy club in Washington that waiters avoid him like itch. Tch! Tch! Colonel, there but for the grace of free West Point training — who knows. . . That name which President Eisenhower has coined for his caddy—"Cemetary"—may be the measure of the President, rather than the club and ball toter. . . Elsie Austin will know the heart of India when she returns to America from her mission there for the B'hai church, which counts her as one of its prized members and properly so. . . Dr. Howard Thurman will desert the scene of his successful experiment in interdenominational and interracial fellowship in San Francisco, where he founded a church and show up next fall to take on new duties as full-time faculty member at Boston university. 'Twill be Boston's gain. . . Mattiwilda Dobbs, whose recent performance at the La Scala Opera House in Milan, Italy, has won her new heights, will be heard in recital in Brussels, Belgium, this week. It's a far ways from Atlanta where Mattiwilda saw the light of day for the first time. . . Mrs. Leah Sykes Young has been selected as Virginia's "Mother of the Year, first member of the race to win the award in the Old Dominion. She will vie with winners from other states for American Mother of 1953.