PROMOTE RACE AMITY

Four public conferences, a study and discussion class on race relations, and a race fellowship meeting constitute the race amity program adopted by the New York Baha'i assembly this year. Among the speakers taking part in the public meetings are Mountfort Mills, Mrs. Bishop Lewis Elmer Carter, J. A. Rogers, Dr. Genevieve Coy, Mrs. M. B. Trotman, Mrs. Elsa Blakeley and Horace Holley. The study class, based on the research of leading sociologists, was conducted by Genevieve Coy, Ph.D. The Baha'i approach to the question of race relations is the teaching of Baha'n'llah, founder of the Faith, that antagonism and prejudice can only be uprooted from the human heart by the complete renewal of religion.
