Sekitan, Ohio, June 30.—The present indications are favorable for a citizens' literary society and debating club. Several prominent race-loving young men have pledged their support. The writer was met by a committee of interested men Monday and a conference held as to the best possible meeting hall. After a brief consideration a committee was selected to make proper investigation and report same. Neither finance or service will be spared in making the effort a success morally, socially, intellectually and financially. The project is a new venture and is being backed by some of Sekitan's leading Race men who are much interested in the young men and women, boys and girls of the community. Every step taken will mean the developing of character and the training of mind. A place of amusement of this kind is much needed, where both saint and sinner can meet and spend a few hours of recreation. . . .
