

Elaine Hill And Frank Snowden, Jr., Repeat Vows

CHEYNEY, Pa., June 14.—At noon on Saturday, the Cheyney College campus was the scene of a wedding marked by extreme simplicity when Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Pinckney Hill gave their daughter, Elaine, in marriage to Frank Martin Snowden, Jr., son of Major and Mrs. Frank M. Snowden of Roxbury, Mass. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John R. Logan, rector, St. Simon the Cyrenian, of Philadelphia, before the fern and rose-banked fireplace in the living room of Melrose cottage, the home of the president Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. Harriette Ellen Williamson of Cheyney.

The bride was lovely in white chiffon draped in Grecian style with a slight train and a white shirred draped jacket and white picture hat to match. Miss Gladys M. Harris, a roommate of the bride at Oberlin college, sang Herbert's "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and Bond's "I Love You Truly."

The brother of the groom, Otto Phillips Snowden, was best man.

The maid of honor was Miss Hermione C. Hill, sister of the bride, who wore white net over pale blue chiffon.

In the bridal party were Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Pinckney Hill, Major and Mrs. Frank M. Snowden, Sr.; Miss Eleanor T. Hill, sister of the bride, in pastel organdie; Miss Natalie D. Hill, in a simple chiffon; Misses Mary and Emily Hill, the sub-debutante sisters of the bride, were girlishly attired in white and yellow organdies.

A reception followed the private ceremony at Melrose cottage. Immediately after the reception, the bride and groom left for Old Orchard, Me.

The wedding was informal and private, the guests being limited to the families of the bride and groom, members of the college faculty and trustees, and a few friends.
