

A new night view of the world-famous Baha'i House of Worship, located on the shore of Lake Michigan at Wilmette. The new flood lighting system turned on last night makes the building visible at night from Chicago's skyscrapers, some fifteen miles away. Construction of the Baha'i House of Worship began in 1921 and it was formally dedicated in 1953. Its nine entrances symbolize the unity of religion and the oneness of mankind. The flood lights were manufactured by the Steber Division Pyle-National Co., Chicago, and installed by Chris Electric, Northbrook, Illinois.
