

Baha'i Meet To Streets Education

"The Need of Divine Education" is the subject of the weekly public lecture at the Baha'i House of Worship on Sunday, June 15, 3:45 p. m. The speaker is Mrs. Jane Czerniejewski (Chair-nee-evsky) of Winnetka. Manifestations of God are known is "Divine Educator" and Baha'i is believe the revealed Word of God is in the teachings of the prophet Baha'ullah. At this time when the concern for the values and meaning in education is expressed in every media, Mrs. Czerniejewski will direct her remarks to the relevance of the spiritual direction given to education of mankind in the Baha'i teachings. Among Baha'i principles are injunctions a universal auxiliary language. Mrs. Czerniejewski and her husband, both Baha'is, have recently moved here from Hamburg, New York, where they have been active in their community. The speaker has traveled widely as a speaker for the Baha'i Faith, and has served on administrative bodies and as a delegate to the National Baha'i Convention. Both she and her husband have made a pilgrimage trip to the Baha'i World Center in Haifa, Israel.

Following the talk on Sunday, visitors are invited to an informal question-and-answer session in the Fireside Room in Foundation Hall of the Baha'i House of Worship.
