STUDY SLATED
FOR TUSKEGEE
ADULT GROUPS

2nd Annual Conference
To Discuss Race Angle
In World Affairs

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Jan. 12 --A major discussion of Race problems will be held at historic Tuskegee Institute, January 22-24 during the second annual conference on "Adult Education and the Negro," sponsored by the American Association for Adult Education, the associates in Negro Folk education, and the extension department of Hampton institute. Conferees will consider from the viewpoint of adult education "The World Crisis and the Negro Masses." From many sections of the United States and from some of America's outstanding universities and colleges as far north as New York and as far south as Florida, white and Race leaders in the field of adult education will discuss for three days the possibilities that programs in adult education may have in helping the race masses in the world crisis. Representatives officially appointed by the 17 southern states and who are leaders in adult education in these states, will participate in this conference. Conditions and trends in adult education will be considered through reports of these state representatives. A glance at the program indicates vital subjects for discussion and the leaders. The problem of adult education in the South will be considered. The inter-racial emphasis needed in adult education will be discussed by R. B. Bleazer, representing the Commission on Interracial Cooperation. Columbia university will be represented by Dr. Lyman Bryson in the subject of education for democracy. F. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee institute, will present Race problems to be met in adult education. Ira DeA. Reid, the eminent sociologist of Atlanta university, will present his views on the socio-economic problems of the Race in rural areas. Dr. Morse A. Cartwright, director of the American Association for Adult Education, will represent that body. The Work Projects Administration is sending James A. Atkins, specialist in Race education, to discuss and indicate the special training needed by adult education teachers. Howard university will be heard from on "Negro Initiative and the Future of the South" by its president, Dr. Mordecai Johnson. Dr. Alain Locke of Howard university, will likewise take a leading part in the conference, but will represent both Howard university and the Association in Negro Folk Education. Other participants in the program will include: H. Council Trenholm, president of State Teachers college, Montgomery, Ala.; Walter R. Chivers, Morehouse college, Atlanta; Benjamin F. Selden of WPA adult education in New Jersey, and others. William M. Cooper, director of extension at Hampton institute, is serving as chairman of the conference, and I. A. Derbinghy of Tuskegee is chairman of the conference arrangements at Tuskegee.
