

A&T College Recorder Dies In Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C. — A leader in Greensboro civic affairs and former member of the A&T college staff died here at a local hospital, Sunday, May 17.

Mrs. Naomi H. Simmons, who served as recorder in the office of the Registrar at the college for about ten years, died following a critical illness of two weeks. She was the wife of the late S. B. Simmons, state supervisor of Vocational Agriculture who died in July of 1957.

A native of Richmond, Va., Mrs. Simmons came to Greensboro in 1927 to take the A&T post. She has lived here since.

Funeral services were conducted at the Providence Baptist Church here, Tuesday, May 19, by the National Spiritual Bahai Assembly of Greensboro. Officiating were Mrs. Terra Coward Smith and Miss Kathryn Potter, officials of the local Assembly and assisted by Rev. Lorenzo A. Lynch, pastor of the church and Rev. J. E. Prower, pastor of St. Matthews Methodist Church in Greensboro. Interment followed at the local Piedmont cemetery.

The deceased was president of the Board of the Metropolitan Day Nursery, a past board member of the Greensboro YWCA, and was a member of the Women's Auxiliary of the L. Richardson Memorial hospital, she was administrative assistant with the USO here during war years.

Mrs. Simmons is survived by: one daughter, Mrs. Naomi MacNeal; two sons, Llewelyn and Demdom, all of Chicago; two stepdaughters, Miss F. Bettye Simmons, Baltimore and Miss Sidella B. Simmons of Washington, D. C., and a sister, Mrs. J. M. Marteen of Greensboro.