

BAHAI'S HOLD RACE AMITY ASSEMBLIES

NEW YORK CITY, Feb. 7.—In order to bring about a better understanding of the Baha'i religion, the Spiritual assembly of the Baha'is of New York have been holding a series of educational meetings which were held November and December and which will end on March 9. The November and December meetings which were held at the Baha'i center, 119 W. 57th street, featured a Race amity conference, and a study course on "Racial Likeness and Differences: The Scientifical Evidence and the Baha'i Teachings." Those who made addresses at the conference were Mrs. Elsa Russell Blakeley, Mrs. Bishop Lewis and Mountfort Mills.

The study course was conducted by Dr. Genevieve L. Coy. On Saturday, Jan. 11, a fellowship meeting was held at the Baha'i center. Addresses will be made by prominent persons. Anthony Jochim presided. On Sunday, Jan. 26, another race amity conference will be held. Mrs. M. B. Trotman will preside. Addresses will be by Elmer Carter on "Cooperation for World Peace" and Horace Holly, "The Oneness of Mankind." The last meeting of the series will be held at the YWCA, 170 W. 137th street, Monday evening, March 10. Mrs. Bishop Lewis will preside. Addresses will be made by Dr. Genevieve Coy on "Scientific View of Race Relations," J. A. Rogers on "Economic and Social Consideration" and Mountfort Mills on "The Union of East and West."
