

GREGORY TO LECTURE ON BAHAI MOVEMENT

There was recently held in the city of Washington, D. C., a great convention the purpose of which was to abolish prejudices and to establish amity between the Colored and the white people of America. Prominent men and women of both races took part. The press comments and reports were uniformly favorable, and a great wave of happiness seemed to sweep over Washington as a result of this successful effort.

A report of this convention, the principles of unity and harmony that underlie it and the way of working up such conventions in other cities will be told on Friday evening by Louis G. Gregory of Washington, who was one of the speakers at the said convention. The address will be at the Appomattox Club at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Ida B. Wells-Barnett will preside. Mr. Gregory is making a tour of American cities in the interests of peace with honor between the races and will address many meetings and churches during his stay of several weeks in Chicago.
