Boston, Mass., Jan. 16.—Mrs. Nadyne Roberts Waters, Boston's favorite soprano, returned from Hartford, Conn., where she appeared in recital at Union Baptist church. Dr. M. M. Conliff, a former Bostonian, now practicing in Mullen, S. C., has been visiting his family in this city for the past week. Dr. Ottawa Sanders, dentist, of Allston, Mass., is now in charge of the dental clinic at the Morgan Memorial. Mrs. John B. Molland of Claremont Park returned from St. Paul, Minn., where she was called three weeks ago on account of the sickness and death of her mother. Mrs. Frances Harper, Harry French of Hinton, W. Va., is visiting his cousin, Mrs. Meekins of Cambridge. Mr. and Mrs. Julian R. Stubbs of Sussex St. returned from their annual vacation trip to New York city. Mrs. Wilson Widgeon and daughter Helen, 108 Hammond St., have returned to the city after visiting relatives and friends in Baltimore and other cities. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Blackburn, 32 Essex St., Cambridge, returned home after a 10-day trip to New York, Albany and Asbury Park, N. J. Miss Maude Hamilton, Washington, D. C., is visiting her mother and sister, Mrs. F. Hamilton and Mrs. Bessie Ayers of Fayerweather St., Cambridge. Dr. William A. Sinclair, Philadelphia, Pa., was in Boston over the week-end on business. Many Bostonians have become interested in the Bahai movement, which aims to unify religions, establish universal education, universal peace and a universal language. The adherents of this religion are absolutely without racial prejudice and warmly welcome race members to their meetings, which are held Sunday and Thursday evenings at 8 p. m. at 429 Boylston St., near Berkley. Mr. and Mrs. Oglesby are prominent members and frequently conduct the services. Mrs. Nona Covington Westheimer and Mrs. Harriett Kneeland Johnson are domiciled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis, 21 Kenilworth St., Roxbury. Allan L. Hewlett, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is now convalescing at his home, 757 Shawmut Ave., Roxbury. The stork is hovering over the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron McAdoo, 696 Huntington Ave. Many friends of Mrs. Walter J. Stevens, Sr., regret her untimely death Monday, Jan. 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Trusty of Cambridge, her lifelong friends, who had cared for her the last two months when it was known she could not recover her health. Death was due to the after effects of an operation performed two years and necessitated by injuries received in a fall. The funeral was held from St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church, Cambridge. The Rev. Walter D. McLane, rector, conducted the services. Miss Mary Wigglesworth rendered beautiful solos. Deceased is survived by the husband, Walter J. Stevens, Sr., employed in New York, and Walter J. Jr., proprietor of a taxicab company. Samuel Griffin was found dead in bed at his home on Harwich St. Tuesday, Jan. 6. He had been in ill health but was about his business Monday. The funeral took place Friday from Charles St. A. M. E. church, of which deceased was a member and of whose Sunday school he was formerly superintendent. Tuesday evening of this week the beginners class in parliamentary law at the League of Women for Community Service, 555 Massachusetts Ave., closed its series of eight lessons under a teacher from the university extension department of the state. Thirty women attended regularly and are enrolled in the continuous course starting Jan. 15.
