OVER 1,300 DELEGATES and observers from Bahá'í communities throughout the United States attended the 50th annual National Bahá'í Convention held recently at the Bahá'í House of Worship in suburban Wilmette. Above, a young Wilmette Bahá'í hostess, Susan Pelle, points out the Convention locale to Bahá'ís from other parts of the country. From left are Erwin Thomas of Detroit; Miss Joyce Watanabe of Los Angeles; Mrs. Hourolain Maghzi of San Francisco, and Robert K. Walker of Ithaca, New York.
